

THE WRITING CENTER
DALLAS BAPTIST UNIVERSITY

MLA Packet

This MLA packet helps students organize the Works Cited page, format parenthetical references, and apply the basic structure of an MLA paper.

These handouts conform to the MLA Handbook 9th edition standards. However, a professor may change the requirements for individual papers. Please consult the professor for any special requirements.

Sample First Page (“Formatting a Research Paper,” MLA Simplified)

Heading begins 1” from the top of the page.

Ima Student

Professor Lastname

ENGL 1301.03

1 September 2021

According to the 9th ed. of the MLA handbook, the last name and page # go on every page (See “Formatting” below). For details, see “Running Head,” pp. 3 of the packet.

MLA Basics

Title page (“Formatting,” par. 1)

MLA prefers no separate title page; MLA papers hold a four-line heading and a title directly before the first paragraph (see pp. 2 of packet). If the professor wants a title page, follow his/her instructions or follow the guidelines for the Generic Title Page, located at <http://www.dbu.edu/uwc/flyers.asp> or outside of the Writing Center in the basement of Collins Learning Center.

Margins (“Formatting,” par. 1.1)

Set margins at one inch on all sides of the page. Fix headings to one inch, as well. In Microsoft Word, select “Page Layout.” Then, find the “Margins” drop-down box and select “Normal.”

Text Formatting (“Formatting,” par. 1.2)

Many students want to justify the lines of the text at the right margin; however, MLA format requires left justification. Choose “Align left,” which is usually the default. If a professor fails to request a specific font, use Times New Roman, 12 point; MLA also now accepts 11-13 font requiring it in some headings. Double-space everything, including the title, text, block quotes (quotes longer than four lines), and the Works Cited page. Since double-spacing produces a blank line after paragraphs, headings, and titles, never press “Enter” to add an extra space. In Microsoft Word, go to the “Home” menu. Then, find the “Paragraph” section and click the small arrow in the bottom right corner. Under the “Line Spacing” section, choose “Double.” Finally, check the “Don’t add space between paragraphs of the same style” box. Completing this process in the “No Spacing” block creates a tighter, neater paper. For more help, see the video on our YouTube channel: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=H5bUIVCJlY>.

MLA calls for both a header and a heading, now called a running head. A running head sits half an inch from the top of the page and includes the student’s last name and the page number. This information appears on every page of the paper. To create the running head, double click at the top of the page. Under the “Insert” tab, find the “Page Number” drop down menu, select “Top of Page,” and choose “Plain Number 3.” Then, click the left arrow key once so that the cursor lands on the left side of the number. Type last name. Make sure to leave one space between the name and the page number, and change the font of both to Times New Roman 12 point. If an extra line appears below the last name and page number, remove it before exiting out of the header.

The header shows up on the first page only and includes the student’s full name, professor, class designation, and date. When writing the date, include the day, the month, and the year in that order (see pp. 2 of packet). Double space this header like the rest of the paper and make sure it shows one inch from the top of the page. With margins correctly set, computers allow no typing above that point, outside of the page’s header box (see pp. 2 of packet).

Internal Headings: Title and Subtitles (Formatting, par. 13, 1.5)

MLA now utilizes up to five levels for headings that alert readers to shifts in focus within a work. Use short, succinct headings and rely on these guidelines (par. 1.3):

Large bold fonts mean prominence while smaller italicized lettering stand subordinate.

Avoid using all capital letters.

Eschew numbers and letters unless so directed by the professor.

Level 1 stands bold, flush left and at 13 pt. size.

Level 2 remains plain, left flushed, and also in 13 pt.

Level 3 uses italics in 13 pt. and flush left.

Level 4 drops to 11 pt. and sits flush left plain.

Level 5 returns to italics retaining the smaller 11 pt. font, also flush left.

Always begin the text indented in a new paragraph.

Use level headings sparingly.

Writing the Paper & Citing the Sources

Indents (“Text Formatting,” par. 1.2)

Tab once before all paragraphs (half an inch) and tab once for block quotes (those longer than 4 lines).

Names and Titles (MLA Handbook, pp. 42-51, 227-30)

When using a source the first time within the text of the paper, give both the first and last name of the author exactly as they appear in the source. After that, only mention the last name. Italicize the titles of complete works (books, anthologies, newspapers, paintings) and quote unit titles (chapters, articles, essays in a collection, songs).

Using Numbers (MLA Handbook, pp. 82-7)

For subjects such as literature, which rarely use numbers, spell them out if they translate into one or two words. Use Arabic numerals with proper comma usage for longer numbers (Ex: 1,576). If a paper frequently employs numbers for mathematics, economics, etc., use the Arabic numerals (1, 2, 3, etc.). If not part of a statistic, spell numbers out (Ex: For fifteen years, Smith conducted this research).

Citing Sources in an MLA Paper (MLA Handbook, pp. 227-286)

In parentheses, after the quote or paraphrase, type the author’s last name and the page number without a comma between them (see “Differences in Quoting, Paraphrasing, and Summarizing” flyer).

Works Cited Page (MLA Handbook pp. 5-6, “Formatting,” par. 1.6)

Sources in the Paper – Parenthetical Notation (MLA Handbook, pp. 227-52)

| Circumstance | What to Include in Parentheses | Example |
|---|--|---|
| Author's name omitted from the sentence | Author's last name and page number. | (Smith 41). See MLA Handbook pp. 229. |
| Author's name included in the sentence | Page number only. | According to Smith... (123). See MLA Handbook pp. 229. |
| Multiple works by the same author | Author's last name, one major word from the title of the work, and page number with no comma between title and page number | (Smith, Characters 98). See MLA Handbook pp. 235-6. |
| A work with two authors | Both authors' last names in the order they appear on the title page. | (Gray and Dunn 75). See MLA Handbook pp. 232-33. |
| A work with three or more authors | First author listed, followed by "et al." | (McFluffy et al. 1337). See MLA Handbook pp. 232. |
| A work with no author | The word by which the title is alphabetized in the Works Cited and the page number. Italicize or "quote" based on type of work. | ("Dreams" 52-53). See MLA Handbook pp. 239, 313. |
| A work with no page numbers | Preferable to use the author and title in the text, only including the paragraph number in the parenthetical notation. Otherwise, use author's last name as well as the paragraph number in the parenthetical notation. | John Krasinski's How to Prank Your Coworkers claims that the...stopped. or (Krasinski). See MLA Handbook pp. 248. |
| A multivolume work, if using more than one volume | Author or editor, followed by volume number, a colon, then page numbers. | (Darnel 3: 212-13). See MLA Handbook pp. 249. |
| A document from the internet with no page numbers or paragraphs | Preferable to use the author and title in the text. Otherwise, use author's last name in the parenthetical notation. | Dwight Schrute's Bears, Beets, Battlestar Galactica claims that the... or (Schrute) See MLA Handbook pp. 248. |
| An electronic book with universally consistent location number | Author's last name and the location number. | (Brown www.jstor.org/stable/41403188). See MLA Handbook pp. 244. |
| An electronic book with universally inconstant location and page numbers | Author's last name and the chapter number. | (Jones ch. 5). See MLA Handbook pp. 244. |
| A poem | Line numbers. Place two slashes between each line. If more than three lines, indent each new line instead of using slashes | "I learned about a virgule. // It is another name for slash (Griffin 332-33). See MLA Handbook pp. 155-6. |
| A play | Act number, scene number, line number(s), separated by periods. | (2.5.79-81). See MLA Handbook pp. 158-9. |
| Indirect Source | Use the abbreviation "qtd. in" before citation; not needed if clear in text. | (qtd. in Rogers 4). See MLA Handbook pp. 284. |

With non-blocked quotes (those of 4 lines or less), the period goes after the end parenthesis. With block quotes, type a space after the ending punctuation mark of the quotation and then type the parenthetical reference. Do not use quotation marks.

The following example shows a correct ending for a block quote:

Playing with The Grass Roots was much more difficult than playing the role of Creed on The Office. (Creed Bratton 115)

Printed Sources in the Works Cited (MLA Handbook pp. 5-6, 105-175.)

- Double-space the lines of the Works Cited page.
- Include available author, title, and publishing information in each entry. For publishing companies containing the words “press” or “university” use “P” and “U,” respectively (E.g. HarperCollins P, Dallas Baptist U).
- Arrange entries in alphabetical order by author’s last name. Use the first author if a work shows several. If no author appears on the work, alphabetize that entry using the first significant word of the title (i.e. The Season of Surgery before Summertime Love = Season of Surgery Before Summertime Love).
- Align entries to the left and indent subsequent lines one tab. To automatically create a hanging indent, highlight the Works Cited list, click the small arrow button in the bottom right of the “Paragraph” section of the “Home” tab, find the “Special” section under “Indention,” and choose “Hanging.” For more help, see this video on our YouTube channel: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=S2fg4JFHnkM>.
- Use one space after a comma or period and finish each entry with a period.
- Some sources are part of a larger whole, such as articles in newspapers or magazines. Think of the larger whole as a container, and italicize it. Follow it with a comma because the information following it refers to the container, not the article (pp. 134-45).
- If there are volume or issue numbers, include them after the title of the publication in the format volume number, period, no space, issue number (See the “Scholarly Journal” section on pp. 6 of this packet for an example).

Book with One Author (MLA Handbook, pp. 313)

Lott, Brett. Jewel. Pocket Books, 1991.

Electronic books are also cited in this way on a Works Cited page.

Book with Two Authors (MLA Handbook, pp. 313)

Goshgarian, Gary, and Kathleen Krueger. Crossfire: An Argument Rhetoric and Reader. HarperCollins, 1994.

Book with Three or More Authors (MLA Handbook, pp. 313)

Smith, Maxine, et al. CoreText: A Handbook for Writers. Longman, 1997.

Two or More Books by the Same Author (MLA Handbook, pp. 235-6)

Angelou, Maya. And Still I Rise. Random House, 1978.

---. I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings. Random House, 1978.

Cite the first normally. Use three hyphens and a period for every subsequent entry. They should be together in the Works Cited page.

An Edition other than the First (MLA Handbook, pp. 315)

Strayer, Joseph, et al. The Mainstream of Civilization: 1350 to 1815. 2nd ed., Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, 1974.

Book with an Editor as Author (MLA Handbook, pp. 314)

McKeon, Richard, editor. The Basic Works of Aristotle. Random House, 1941.

Book with an Author and Editor (MLA Handbook, pp. 314)

Conrad, Joseph. The Secret Sharer. Edited by Daniel R. Schwarz, Bedford Books, 1997.

A Work in an Anthology (with an author) (MLA Handbook, pp. 225)

Ibsen, Henrik. Hedda Gabler. Translated by Michael Meyer. The Norton Anthology of World

Masterpieces, edited by Maynard Mack, 5th ed., vol. 2, Norton, 1995, pp. 1247-1304.

Include the page numbers of the entire work, not just the portion quoted.

*Because the specific work was translated, the translator comes before the complete collection, also known as the container. The details about the container follow its name and are separated by commas.

A Work in an Anthology (with no author) (MLA Handbook, pp. 107-8)

Gilgamesh. Translated by N.K. Sandars. The Norton Anthology of World Masterpieces, edited by Maynard

Mack, 5th ed., vol. 1, Norton, 2002, pp. 83-86.

Include page numbers of the entire work, not just the portion quoted.

In this instance, Gilgamesh is the primary source, and therefore, the details following are separated from the title with a period. The container's details, however, are still separated by commas.

A Multivolume Work (MLA Handbook, pp. 316)

Individually titled:

Hester, M. Thomas. John Donne. 1990. Vol. 121 of Seventeenth-Century British Non-Dramatic Poets.

Dallas Baptist UP, 1992.

Individually titled with an editor:

Davis, Cassandra. Frightening Fairie Spells. Edited by Alexander Baudelaire, 1997. Fairies, Dragons, and

Phoenixes in Old Time Lore, Vol. 5, Umbridge P, 1995-2000.

Entire multivolume set:

Ebony, Charles. The History of Time Pieces from Sundials to Apple. 3rd ed, Watchman P, 2017. 12 vols.

One Volume from collective title:

Cantor, Olive. A Dummy's Guide to Dressage Showmanship. Vol. 9, Clydesdale and Morgan Books, 2005.

Students may include the total number of volumes in a multivolume publication, though MLA does not require it. However, that inclusion may aid in tracking down the original source. Always, specific references to volume number and page numbers must be included in the parenthetical reference.

Newspaper Article (MLA Handbook, pp. 321-2)

Hoppe, Christy. "Majoring in Change." Dallas Morning News, 18 Jan. 2000, 1A.

 If adding edition (late edition., special edition., etc.), it goes after the periodical title, separated by a comma.

Always include denotation of the section in which the article resides. In the example above, 1A refers to page 1 of section A.

Add web address when accessing via the web.

Scholarly Journal (MLA Handbook, pp. 319-321)

Kastely, James L. "From Formalism to Inquiry: A Model of Argument in Antigone." College English, vol. 19, no. 2, 1999, pp. 222-241.

 * no. 2 represents the journal issue number 2.

 See manual for additional information, such as those including issue number, season, corporate authors, translators, other than English versions, multiple series, special issues, DOIs, permalinks, online-only journals, PDFs, supplementary data, online ahead of print, and entire special issues.

Magazine Article (MLA Handbook, pp. 323)

Simple version without season, volume or issue numbers:

Johnson, Brace, and Alisa Johnson. "Integrating with MTS." International Spectrum, May 1999, pp. 24-31.

Including additional information such as season, volume and issue number:

Johnson, Brace, and Alisa Johnson. "Integrating with MTS." International Spectrum, vol. 5, no. 2, pp. 24-31.

Volume and issue number, if applicable, follow the title of the periodical.

Pamphlet or Brochure (MLA Handbook, pp. 340)

Texas Rangers Museum. Texas Association of Museums. TAM, 2013. Brochure.

Dallas Baptist University Highlights. Student Affairs. Hawkeye, 2020. Pamphlet.

Electronic Sources in the Works Cited

For the most part, the same important information for a printed source must be reported for electronically accessed sources. However, professors expect inclusion of essential items. Since the internet constantly changes, the UWC recommends including access date of the article.

World Wide Web (MLA Handbook, pp. 324-7)

When citing an item from the World Wide Web, use the examples below or check the manual. MLA now lists almost anything a scholar might consider using individually. General instructions no longer exist in the manual.

Using the Bible as a Source (pp. 71, 240 6.13, 339)

Things to Remember

- Capitalize basic titles, such as Bible, Old Testament, Koran or Talmud, but resist italics.
- Formal titles such The Oxford Annotated Bible or The Holy Word of Qur'an of the Prophet get italics.
- Using abbreviations of titles helps add interest and contrast to papers. See chart below for more details. Ex: Before God created light, "darkness was over the surface of the deep" (New International Version, Gen. 1.2). After God separated the light from the darkness, "the darkness he called 'night'" (Gen. 1.5).

Parenthetical References (not specifically mentioned but commonly used)

When citing a particular passage, use the following order:

(version of Bible used [in first citation only], book of Bible [abbreviated] chapter. verse).

Ex: (New International Version, Gen. 1.3).

In Text (see MLA Handbook pp. 71.)

For books and versions of the Bible, do not underline, italicize, or put in quotation marks. The only exception occurs when using an individually published edition.

Ex: Bible Exodus New Testament King James Version The Zondervan Study Bible

Ex: The NIV Serendipity Bible provides questions to assist small group Bible study leaders.

Works Cited (MLA Handbook, pp. 339)

Include title of Bible, version, and publication information in the Works Cited.

Ex: The NIV Serendipity Bible. General editor, Lyman Coleman, Zondervan, 1996.

Ex: The Holy Bible. English Standard Vers., General editor, Lane Dennis, Crossway, 2005.
